Dumping Tax on Certain Imports To Start Monday

British Emergency Measure Passes Second Reading—Goods Heavily Imported During Recent Weeks Pay Levy—Foreign Shipping Has Benefited by Influx of Commodities

LONDON, Nov. 18 (CP).—By a sweeping majority of 329, the National Government tonight gained second reading for its antidumping bill. Brushing aside long-established precedents, the House of Commons is rushing through the legislation. It is expected the bill will receive royal assent Friday, the first duty orders will be issued Saturday, and that certain imports will begin to be taxed on Monday morning.

The bill confers on the President of the Board of Trade the power to impose duties, maximum rates of 100 per cent may be levied on a long list of wholly manufactured or mainly manufactured goods. Each order must receive the approval of Parliament expressed by resolution.

MAY BE TAXED FIRST

The debate today was desultory and discursive. The salient feature was a statement made by Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, from which it was inferred that among the first products to be taxed would be plate and sheet glass, knives, surgical instruments, vacuum cleaners, sewing machines, typewriters, colored cottons, carpets, box calf leather, tanned leather and cobalt oxide. These goods, he said, have been entering the country in abnormal quantities in recent weeks.

L. Hore-Belisha, Parliamentary Secretary for the Board of Trade, said not only had foreign imports been unusually heavy in recent weeks, but the goods were being carried in increasing extent in foreign ships. For the first ten days of November, 1930, out of 364 vessels entering the Port of London, 186 were of foreign registry. The corresponding figures this year were 440 to 233.

WILL NOT BE IDEAL

Officials of the Board of Trade will not be idealists, he said, and added, said Mr. Runciman, adding strength to the belief the legislation will be in actual operation next week.

Empire products are not dutiable under the bill, but a definition of what constitutes Empire products is likely to demand a special regulation. The bill itself does not include a definition, it merely refers to.

British Preference May Mean Potential Market for Lumber

Despite Severe Natural Handicaps, Increased Share of United Kingdom Requirements Would Be Important Gain for B.C.

BRITISH Columbia lumbermen are watching the course of events in Great Britain, where a broad hint has been given that Canadian lumber will be exempted under dumping duties which may greatly alter the present import sources, with much enlarged British preferences. As Great Britain's sawn lumber requirements in the course of a year are between 3,000,000,000 and 3,500,000,000 board feet, increased share of a tremendous market may well be thrown open to Canada in the adjustment now proposed.

Island Man Chosen As Master Farmer; Will Receive Medal

L. F. Solly, Westholme, Given High Honor—John Mole, Ladner, Also Chosen as Outstanding Agriculturist and Citizen

L. F. Solly, Westholme, and John Mole, Ladner, two British Columbia farmers, have been named Master Farmers and awarded the Master Farmer gold medals and certificates, following the final decisions made by the awards committee for British Columbia, consisting of Dean F. M. Clement, of the College of Agriculture, University of British Columbia; J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Victoria; and Lyman T. Chapman, editor, The Nor-West Farmer and Farm and Home, Winnipeg, the farm magazine, sponsoring the Master Farmer Movement in Canada. This is the first year the movement has been conducted in British Columbia.

Other Master Farmers honored of his cultivated land is low-lying bottom or peaty soil, which produces enormous yields of potatoes, corn and spring crops. The balance of the farm is higher and hilly land, where his dairy stable, poultry plant, residence and farm outbuildings for the hired help are located. Ten men are employed the year round.

A portion of the poultry plant is located on the hillside above the residence, but for the front veranda commands a view of the entire farm layout looking to the front and both right and left.

The poultry enterprise consists of rearing and selling high quality breeding stock of both White Leghorns and White Wyandottes, as well as day-old chicks, eggs for hatching and market eggs. Approximately 3,500 laying hens and male birds are wintered. Trapping is practiced. His incubator capacity totals 32,000 eggs.

HAS FINE HERD

Twelve purebred cows of both the Holstein and Jersey breeds make up the dairy herd, the average milk production being 12,300 lbs. milk for the former and 9,463 lbs. of milk for the latter, and 430 lbs. fat and 400 lbs. fat, respectively, for the year 1930. In 1929 the milk records were slightly lower in each case. The output of the dairy is sold as whole milk, cream, and butter, and is grown for silage, and mangels for additional winter feed for both cows and poultry. Soiling crops, such as oats and vetch, are grown and fed to the cows instead of pasturing.

In 1930, Mr. Solly's Netted Gem potatoes gave an average yield of 25 tons, about $25 bushels per acre, while the 1931 crop produced about the same average yield on a five-acre field. Extremely heavy applications of manure from the poultry yards and cow stable and commercial fertilizers as well, are applied to the potatoes, roots and soiling crops. No grain is grown.

RAISES SWINE ALSO

Four Yorkshire brood sows are kept and these, crossed with a Berkshire boar, raise two litters per year, ranging from six to eight piglets, all being sold as weaners at six to seven weeks of age.

Three horses and a motor truck take care of the power requirement and the transportation of the milk. A vegetable garden supplies the needs of the farm. Flowers, and a unique and attractive rock garden provide a good setting for the home of the hillside site.

Mr. Solly has two daughters, aged six and seven. He is churchwarden and a member of the board of the local Chamber of Commerce, Agricultural Society and Hospital Association. Master Farmer Solly approaches all his farm enterprises from the business angle, and has built up an intensive producing organization in which the different units seem to complement each other to the benefit and advantage of the whole.

STARTED AS TENANT

Born on the North Arm of the Fraser River, as he describes the location of his ancestral home, Master Farmer John Mole, Ladner, started to farm for himself by renting his father's farm in the Spring of 1906, at the age of twenty-four years. In 1913 he bought the farm, and in 1915 he moved to his present farm near Ladner in 1925, where he now operates a 212-acre dairy farm in the Fraser Delta area.

Prior to being purchased by Mr. Mole, this farm had been the property of fourteen years and had fallen into the rut that the great majority of rented farms do. However, this farm now boasts of a modern home with all the comforts and appointments of a city house. The grounds are planned for future development, but are attractive in their present form.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mole take an active part in community affairs, the former holding an office in the church, Farmers' Co-operative, as well as other community enterprises. There are two daughters and one son in the family, the latter now in partnership with his father (John Mole & Son) in the operation of the farm.

UP-TO-DATE QUARTERS

A new dairy barn has been constructed recently, and it is up-to-date in every detail, complete with milking machine, litter carriers, water bowls, silos, large hay loft and grain bins above the stable. Some thirty head of Holstein cows, mostly purebred, are milked the year round, the average production per cow approximating 12,000 lbs. of milk per year. Corn silage, red clover silage stacked green, mangels and clover hay are the main roughages used, supplemented by a meal mixture consisting of oats, barley, wheat bran and high protein feeds such as soybean or linseed meal. Canning peas, clover hay and timothy hay are sold as cash crops from time to time.

Seven horses, used in four or six-horse hitch, and a 10-hp tractor provide the farm power, the latter operating the threshing outfit, ensilage cutter, feed grinder, as well as doing some 400 hours of drawbar work in the run of a season.

Mr. Mole also has small flocks of Southdowns and Barred Rocks.

"I say, old man, what happened to that parrot of yours?"

"Oh, I married, you know, and it died of a broken heart."

"Jealousy, I suppose."

"Well, not exactly. It couldn't stand the competition."

Bangkok, Siam, has just opened its fourth theatre.

Named Master Farmers

L. F. Solly, Westholme, and John Mole, Ladner (right), have been chosen as Master Farmers for 1931. The movement is sponsored by a large Western farm journal, and the selections were made by Dean F. M. Clement, University of British Columbia; J. B. Munro, Provincial Deputy Minister of Agriculture; and L. T. Chapman, editor, The Nor-West Farmer. This is the first time British Columbia farmers have been so honored.

the Corporation of Glasgow and other large British cities. If the exemption of Dominion lumber exports from dumping duties imposed to keep out foreign products, is sufficient to develop a real increase in the waterborne trade from this coast, the establishment of special export mills to cut to the needs of United Kingdom contractors would probably follow.

At present, however, less than 100,000,000 board feet at the outside goes to Great Britain and Europe from British Columbia sources. This compares with a total cut from ten to twenty-five times as large, depending on conditions in the industry and world markets generally.

SOME HANDICAPS

Differences in sizes and surfaces used, long water hauls through varying temperatures, and competition with close-in short-water hauls are the physical handicaps under which British Columbia lumber competes in Great Britain with other countries.

Special export mills, or export sections of existing mills, could be made to overcome the dimensional and surface differences of the product used. Even the damage of long hauls with their attendant effect on moisture content can, it is believed, be overcome. But the real difficulty of long freight hauls versus short freights would require a substantial British preference to be overcome, it is urged.

Present political events in Great Britain are being closely scanned, however, by the trade here, and the hope is that a suitable market can be opened for Western hemlock and the products of the other products for which British Columbia would welcome increased sale.

FRED W. JONES IS NOMINATED

one of the most successful cattle ranches for years. Mr. Jones has divided his time between his ranch at Golden and business interests in Victoria for some years, and is well known and extremely popular throughout the province.

MAKES STATEMENT

In a statement issued after his nomination, Mr. Jones said if successful in the coming by-election he would stand for economy and efficiency in public business.

"I have taken an active part in the industrial life of this province for more than thirty-two years. I have accepted the nomination believing that with my business, farming and stockbreeding experience there is a definite service I can render to the Province of British Columbia, and particularly to Columbia district.

"My political gospel is simple. I am for economy and efficiency in government, and the elimination of all overhead not absolutely necessary to the people of the district. I have no personal ends to serve, and have time to devote to the interests of the people of the district."

SPLENDID RECORD

Educated at Upper Canada College, Toronto, Mr. Jones joined the staff of the Ontario & Quebec Railway in 1882, and in 1883, he was being taken over by the Canadian Pacific Railway. He was secretary, for a time, to Sir William Whyte, going to Winnipeg with him in 1886, and later becoming assistant general superintendent of the Western Division of the C.P.R. at that city.

In April, 1899, Mr. Jones left the service of the railway to take over

IN CHINESE POSSESSION

PEIPING, Nov. 19 (Thursday) (AP).—A message from Taitshar received early today declared both Taitshar and Anganchi were in the possession of the Chinese army.

Earlier dispatches from General Mah Chan-Shan said that superior Japanese forces, with artillery, light tanks and airplanes, penetrated the Chinese line in two points after a victorious attack yesterday, but the defenders were doing their best to hold on.

Japanese airplanes flew over Taitshar, these earlier dispatches said, and dropped pamphlets setting forth that the Japanese were fighting with the Chinese with the aim of occupying that city.

Earlier dispatches from Mukden said Taitshar and Anganchi were occupied by the Japanese during yesterday's fighting.

A telegram received from Mukden on Wednesday night from Taitshar regarding the situation on the Chinese Eastern Railway, declared the Japanese had occupied the station and were attacking the Chinese along the railway.

HEADQUARTERS IN TRAIN

TOKIO, Nov. 19 (AP).—An Anganchi dispatch to the Rengo News Agency today said General Shogo Hazbe, commander of the advance guard that occupied Taitshar, had set up headquarters in an armored train outside the western gate of the walled city.

The correspondent said the Chinese Eastern Railway appeared to be operating almost normally, with slight delays.

REV. DR. CLEM DAVIES MAY ENTER FIELD AS CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

Davies is probably one of the best known men in Victoria today and his following is numbered into the thousands.

TRADES AND LABOR

Three new candidates were placed in the field yesterday, two for City Council and one for the school board, Charles Chivers, president of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council, and Joseph W. Casey, of the Electrical Workers' Union, were endorsed by the Trades and Labor body at a special meeting held last night in the Labor Hall on Courtney Street. The selection of the two candidates for the City Council was made following the business meeting of the organization when the meeting voted to go into a general nominating convention of delegates representing the various branches of organized labor. The Trades and Labor Council has not been requested to endorse any other candidates, it was stated at the meeting.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION

Trustee J. L. Beckwith, chairman of the finance committee of the school board, announced yesterday that he would seek re-election to that body. Mr. Beckwith is a former mayor of Victoria and has served on numerous public bodies during his long residence in the city.

The Trades and Labor Council's candidates are to run on a straight labor platform and a meeting is to be held tonight to formally frame a policy.

Crown Colony of British Columbia Was Born in Fort

Today Is Anniversary of Two Important Events in History of British Columbia—Ceremony Held in Trading Post of Langley 73 Years Ago

SEVENTY-THREE years ago today a ceremony took place in "The Big House" at Fort Langley, on the banks of the Fraser River that was of utmost importance. There, in a crowded room in the officers' residence, the proclamation was read creating the Crown Colony of British Columbia, and Governor James Douglas of Vancouver's Island was sworn in as Governor of the new Crown colony.

The little ceremony witnessed by fur traders, naval officers and soldiers that took place that rainy day in November, 1858, was for great significance, for it ended the dominion of the Hudson's Bay Company, that fine old trading organization, that had held sway over the great wilderness west of the Rockies. It signified the coming into effect of the statute and criminal laws of Great Britain, and it established firmly the authority of the Crown.

SECOND EVENT
November 19 has perhaps greater significance to British Columbia than has any other historic day, for it was on that date, in 1866, that the Crown Colonies of British Columbia and Vancouver's Island were completely united under the name of the younger. The proclamation of Union was first made public in Victoria on November 17, and two days later was formally proclaimed in New Westminster.

Fort Langley, where the ceremony of November 19, 1858, was held, played a very important part in the history of the Coast. It was the first Hudson's Bay Company post erected on the Coast, being built in 1827 by James MacMillan and his men. The fact that it was built on a river discovered and explored by British subjects, and continuously occupied, had considerable bearing in later years on holding the boundary line at the forty-ninth parallel when the United States laid claim to the whole domain north to the Russian possessions.

The original fort was destroyed by fire some dozen years after its construction, and a larger post, three miles up the river on higher ground, was built to replace it. This new Fort Langley was much larger in size, and was considered in its heyday to be a model of what a trading post should be. It had four bastions protecting the walls in place of the two that most establishments boasted.

Within the palisades were warehouses, trading store, cooperage, blacksmith shops, and dwellings for the servants of the company, while at one end, farthest removed from the river, was "The Big House," where J. Murray Yale, chief trader in charge, resided on the ground floor, while the second story was reserved for the officers of the company who in the course of their duties came to visit the place.

GOLD RUSH
It was in "The Big House" that the proclamation was read. There had been a wild stampede of gold-miners to the Fraser River that summer. David James Douglas, Governor of Vancouver's Island, Lieutenant-Governor of Queen Charlotte Islands, and vice-admiral, acting with commendable promptitude, had assumed direction of affairs in the name of Queen Victoria, asking that Crown authority be established. This was done. The British Government asked Governor Douglas, whose capabilities as an executive had been proven by his administration on the island, to assume the governorship of the new colony and sever his official connection with the Hudson's Bay Company. This he consented to do.

The home Government formally incorporated British Columbia as a Crown Colony—for a period of four years—under the administration of Douglas, and sent out a young lawyer of great ability, Matthew Baillie Begbie, to become chief justice of the new colony and establish courts.

It was Begbie, a giant of a man, who first faced Governor Douglas in that parlor of the fur traders' home and swore to carry on his duties faithfully and well. Then he, in turn, administered the oath of office to the stateley Governor. Proclamations were read, and the guns of the fort boomed out a salute to the infant colony, while the veteran Beaver, the first ship on the Pacific, replied from the river—and on the tall flagstaff the Union Jack hung listlessly as the rain came down in a steady pour.

CHANGED PLANS
It had been planned to hold the ceremony outside, with the first arrivals of the Royal Engineers as a guard of honor for the occasion. The inclemency of the weather, however, caused an alteration of the plans, and the result was the formal inauguration in the big room of "The Big House," where for eighteen years the decisions of a fur traders had been promulgated as the law of the land.

Victoria and British Columbia generally is doing honor to those brave men who lived in those brief times, and seventy-three years ago laid the foundations of a sister colony to that of Vancouver's Island.

COMPROMISE TALK
DEFINITELY AT END
REITERATES OPPOSITION
Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate, who followed M. Yoshizawa in the council room, reiterated China's opposition to the "treaty" of 1915.

"China will not pay Japan a political price for evacuating Manchuria," he said. "We refuse to be forced again to sign the notorious twenty-one points of 1915."

IN RUSSIAN SPHERE
TOKIO, Nov. 18 (AP)—Fear was expressed tonight that the occupation of Taitshar by General Honjo's troops would bring Soviet Russia actively into the Manchurian conflict.

To take Taitshar the Japanese army had to cross the Chinese Eastern Railway, operated jointly by China and Russia. Taitshar is within the sphere of Russian influence.

The Japanese assault was made with full knowledge of the dangerous possibilities so far as the Soviet is concerned. General Honjo said the other day that, if a battle were fought, he might have to establish his line at Taitshar regardless of the danger of embroiling Russia.

TEMPORARY MEASURE
The occupation was described as a temporary military measure. The Minister of War declared that as long as the troops of Gen. Ma Chao-shan, Chinese commander, did not use the Chinese Eastern Railway, Japan would not interfere with that road. When the Chinese forces have been dispersed, the minister said, General Honjo may retire to Taonan or Changchun.

Dispatches received here from the scene of the conflict indicated that General Ma, accompanied by several thousand men, was going north, using trains on the Chinese Eastern Railway.

In Government circles it was said today's offensive was not necessary because General Honjo was in a dangerous position before a superior force of the Chinese.

TRYING TO FIND HIM
MUKDEN, Nov. 18 (AP)—Japanese Consul Morishima said today that his Government is entirely ignorant of the whereabouts of Henry Pu Yi, former boy emperor, and efforts are being made to find him.

Pu Yi recently left Tientsin, where he had been virtually a prisoner in the Japanese concession, and it was reported an attempt was to be made to make him Emperor of Manchuria.

Consul Morishima declared the Tokyo Government was giving its full support to the Manchurian Government headed by Yuan Chin-Kai and that all intrigues threatening to support his regime were being suppressed.

TOKIO, Nov. 19 (AP)—Japan has notified the Soviet Government of its intention to hold the Chinese Eastern Railway "partly responsible" for hostilities in Manchuria because it transported Chinese troops.

Under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Exequat United Church, a concert will be given tomorrow evening, beginning at 8 o'clock.

MINISTER AT DEDICATION OF SCHOOLS

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe Officially Opens Two New Saanich High Schools

MANY TAKE PART IN CEREMONIES

The importance of character development in children prior to the school age was stressed by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, in officially opening two of Saanich's three new high schools yesterday.

The institutions, which were dedicated with dignity befitting the occasion, were the Mount Newton High School at Keating and the Mount Douglas High School on Cedar Hill Road.

Mr. Hinchliffe said the home life of children had an important bearing on the molding of their character. A child of strong character was much easier to develop and educate than one whose home education had been neglected.

TRUSTEES COMPLIMENTED
The minister complimented the trustees on the splendid buildings that they had obtained and the carrying out of the corporation brought within their reach.

At the Mount Newton High School some 250 people were in attendance. A. G. Smith, principal, introduced the speakers.

SUPPORT APPRECIATED
F. V. Hobbs, chairman of the School Board, thanked the ratepayers for their support of the by-law which made the schools possible, and outlined the financing of the Mount Newton school, which cost $250,000.

Trustees J. L. Brooks, H. L. Briggs, William Tomes and W. S. Thorpe also spoke on the work done by the schools to make the community possible. Reeve William Cruickshank said he hoped the school would be a great benefit to the community.

HAS COMPLETE CONTROL
Opening of these schools gives Saanich complete control over its educational matters. Prior to their erection high school students in Saanich came to the city for their education.

Saanich's first step in administering its own schools was taken in 1908 when the first school board was elected by acclamation. Charles E. King (chairman), William Campbell, Joseph H. Astle, Francis H. Litchford and Geoffrey Vantreight, Mr. Campbell was the first secretary.

HUMBLE BEGINNING
When the board assumed responsibility of the schools turned over to them by the Provincial Government, which formerly administered educational matters for the district, there were eleven schools, only two of which had more than one classroom.

Since then the scope of the board has increased until now it has under its control fifteen modern elementary schools and four of the original schools. With the three new high schools, the total will be brought to twenty-two.

In 1906 there was a staff of eleven teachers, who received a total of $185 a month, while today there are fifty-five teachers and a total annual school expenditure of $213,000. There are 1,800 students in Saanich schools, who are accommodated in sixty classrooms.

JURY FAILS TO AGREE

Uchiyama, Courtenay lumber merchant.

The definition set forth in a particular section of the Finance Act. This section stipulates that Empire goods, to qualify for a fiscal preference, must contain a definite proportion of Empire labor and materials as laid down by the Board of Trade regulations. The purpose of this is to prevent an exporter of the United States, for instance, from shipping goods to Canada, assembling them there and then transporting the finished product to Great Britain under the Empire preference.

OPINIONS DIFFER
The debate today revealed the differences of opinion among the rank and file of the Government supporters over the application of the power to be conferred on the Board of Trade. Conservatives pressed the view that the bill should be regarded as the beginning of a protective tariff system. W. R. D. Perkins, for instance, did not think the bill went far enough.

On the other hand, former free trade Liberals, now supporting the Government, were more hesitant. Captain R. T. Evans supported the bill on the principle the Government should have the power to deal with the emergency, but he admitted he did so with considerable trepidation. "I am not certain, even now, that I may not have regrets for my decision," he said.

AID TO AGRICULTURE
In the lobbies, members spoke of the impetus protection would give British agriculture. The suggestion is made that a duty should be imposed on imported flour and the proceeds used to guarantee a price for wheat to the British farmer. The sale of My Farmers' Union today passed a resolution, "noting with dismay that agricultural products are excluded from the Government's emergency anti-dumping measures."

VICTORIA MAN IS PROMOTED

C. F. Dawson Appointed District Resident Architect by Commission

C. F. Dawson, of Victoria, has been promoted to the post of district resident architect of the city, according to a telegram received yesterday morning from T. W. Fuller, chief architect for the Dominion Government at Ottawa. Mr. Dawson succeeds J. G. Brown, who was superannuated last March, following which Mr. Dawson became acting district architect. The promotion was effected by the Civil Service Commission, the message said.

Mr. Dawson is well known in Victoria, having been a resident here since 1907. He has held the position of time served overseas. Mr. Dawson has studied architecture and contracting work since student days, when he attended the Birmingham School of Art, holding the Sir John Kendrick Scholarship there for six years. From 1907 to 1915 he was engaged as a contractor in Victoria, when he joined the militia to serve during the Great War.

For eight years, from 1917 to 1925, he was employed with the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, after which he was assistant to Mr. Brown.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18.—Four years in the penitentiary was the sentence passed by Police Magistrate J. A. Findlay on Fred Froben, who pleaded guilty to attacking Constable Fred Nickerson with an iron bar on July 27 and inflicting serious injuries to the officer. Constable Nickerson was attacked as he went to the assistance of N. Yamamura, jeweller, who had been beaten into unconsciousness in his store on Main Street. In spite of his wounds the constable clung to his assailant until other officers reached the store. Both the officer and the jeweller were sent to the General Hospital.

More than three months ago Froben pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery with violence in connection with the attack on the jeweller, and was remanded for sentence. During the remand period Magistrate H. C. Shaw, before whom he had entered his plea, became ill and his death followed.

Legal authorities decided that, as Froben had pleaded guilty before Magistrate Shaw, no other magis-

Victoria's Mistakes

By EX-ALDERMAN E. S. WOODWARD
Mayorality Candidate, Advocate of Substantial Tax Abatement

Radio Addresses on Live Civic Topics, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 7:45 to 8 P.M.

Victoria is suffering today as a consequence of mistaken policies pursued by successive councils.

The aldermen have been from time to time called upon to make decisions upon matters outside their range of knowledge.

These decisions have been endorsed by one or both of the local newspapers, carried by vote of the ratepayers, and thereby imposed upon all succeeding councils.

An impressive percentage of the city's bonded indebtedness—which today presents to thoughtful minds a very anxious problem—was incurred in good faith but with poor judgment by honorary, part-time aldermen.

A board of full-time aldermen, specializing in civic affairs, would have saved Victoria millions of dollars and years of stagnation.

A stricter regard for the pay-as-you-go principle would have returned handsome dividends in golden dollars.

Large public works, estimated at one-half their ultimate cost, and important agreements with private individuals, corporations and governments, have left their legacy of anxiety to this generation.

Public decisions and popular tendencies have been just as erroneous as the decisions of aldermen. The late lamented A. E. Todd—who was as sincere a man as ever entered municipal life—was for years supported when his policies were wrong and was twice rejected when he was right.

A. E. Todd was right when he campaigned against the ill-conceived Johnson Street Bridge project, but was ignominiously tossed aside by the electorate. He was also right when he sought to convert the city's beautiful Elk Lake property from a dormant into a productive asset. But once again he fell foul of public opinion.

Councils comprised of part-time aldermen may prove to be very expensive ornaments. Any movement tending to exact less personal time from the aldermen is conceived in ignorance of the origin and results of past mistakes.

Municipal Projects Are Revised in List Approved by Ottawa

Victoria Plans Verbally Endorsed at $300,000 but Officially Cut to $200,000 After Several Weeks' Delay. It Is Intimated

DETAILS of how $2,536,713, the aggregate allotted for municipal relief undertakings in this province, has been segregated in Federal authorizations have been received by the Provincial Government, it was intimated yesterday by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, chairman of the unemployment committee of the Cabinet. Pending Federal and Provincial settlement, and the necessary financial arrangements, however, all agencies must bide their time in the matter, it was stated.

Apart from the Vancouver City programme, where $2,000,000 was sought and half that sum authorized by the Federal Government, considerable further curtailment of municipal plans has been announced at Ottawa. The latest list received by the provincial authorities mentions municipalities in which specific cuts have been made, and twelve others from whom first authorizations are on hand. The following are the amounts detailed in recent Federal advice to the British Columbia unemployment committee, with the original authorizations in brackets after each centre:

Armstrong, $4,000 ($6,000); Prince Rupert, $50,000 ($100,000); Richmond municipality, $50,000 ($100,000); Spallumcheen, $25,000 ($50,000); Saanich, $50,000 ($75,000); Surrey, $15,000 ($27,000); New Westminster, $100,000 ($200,000); Chilliwack district, $5,000 ($7,000); Langley, $15,000 ($18,000); Courtenay, $7,500 ($10,000). Victoria, which asked $300,000, and had $500,000 verbally approved by Senator Robertson, is cut to $200,000 in the same advice. In addition, first authorizations were issued by the Federal Government for twelve other centres, these being also well below the cost of suggested works in these centres, for a total bill of $2,536,713 in municipal undertakings. Until first authorizations have been adjusted between the two Governments, it is not expected that any provincial move can be made to authorize a resumption of work on municipal plans in any wholesale manner.

In the case of Victoria, Mr. McKenzie stressed the fact that he was attaching blame to one, and expressed the view that the time had come when all municipalities, as all Governments, would have to bide their time until present difficulties have been satisfactorily adjusted.

LINDBERGH IS ON WAY SOUTH

Stopped Off at Washington to Call on Italy's Foreign Minister

MITCHELL FIELD, Nov. 18 (AP).—Taking advantage of a break in the fog which has shrouded New York for three days, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh took off today for Miami, Florida.

He was hastily recalled from the South to fly Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, of Italy, to Washington Monday, but fog prevented that flight and kept him from getting back to Miami.

He is to fly the giant American clipper on its first voyage across the Caribbean. He expected to take about ten or eleven hours to reach Miami. He was flying alone.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP).—Charles A. Lindbergh stopped off on his flight to the South this afternoon to pay a call on Foreign Minister Grandi, of Italy.

NO WITNESSES IN BAGLEY DEFENCE

Crown Closes Case Based on Circumstantial Evidence Against Alleged Hotel Robber

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 18 (CP).—The Crown closed its case at 3:15 p.m. today in Assize Court here in the trial of William Bagley, charged with robbery with violence in Harrison Hot Springs Hotel, near here, April 27. There are no defence witnesses. Court adjourned until tomorrow morning.

The main crown testimony, all of which was of a circumstantial nature, centred around expert evidence of an "electrical burn" on a penknife found on Bagley, and expert medical testimony that Bagley had suffered an electrical burn on a finger which could have been caused by cutting an electric wire.

A stricter regard for the pay-as-you-go principle would have returned handsome dividends in golden dollars.

Informal Evening Dress Has Distinctive Style

Famous Designers Pay Special Attention to Simple, Moderately Priced Clothes—Variety of Furs as Trimming—Hats Are Befeathered

Women in Paris are asking for simple clothes at reasonable prices, says a correspondent of The Times (London). Jean Patou, whose fashions always have distinction rather than peculiarity, is using brown more than black for morning clothes. He calls it caroube or bean-brown. Persian red and Persian green are two colors also found in the small collection which he is now showing for private customers. Plain brown jersey, or red jersey with some pattern in the jumper, is used for sports styles, and simple felt hats, in the style of the beret, often trimmed with an upstanding quill at the back, are worn with them. Tailored suits of very soft herringbone tweeds are trimmed with astrachan round the hips. Long coats are of broadcloth trimmed with fur.

There is a new shade, a pale gleaming copper, for the blouses which are worn with brown tailor-made coats and skirts. This delicate satin is also used to make evening dresses, and looks well worn with a wrap of caroube-brown velvet. The evening dresses at Patou's are simple and graceful, with strapped backs and belts tied in front. The hemlines of the long skirts are varied; some are straight and some uneven. The dresses are of satin, velvet and fine crepes, in white, brown, Persian green, and the new pale shade of copper.

INFORMAL EVENING DRESS

The Sunday evening dress, as the Americans call it, is very much worn in Paris for informal dinners at restaurants, the theatre, and late afternoon parties, and is made of black or colored velvet, crepe, crepe satin and taffeta. Such a dress seen last week was of black Baize velvet, the fashionable touch of gold appearing in the bunch of gold roses on the shoulder. It had short cape sleeves and a shallow pointed neckline. The little bolero which went with it had long sleeves and a long scarf end, carried over the left shoulder and forming a cowl neckline in front. A little coat like this may be trimmed with fur, and the velvet hat which accompanies it is trimmed with fur, too.

Recent Charming Bride and Her Attendants

A deep wine-red is a color much used for these late afternoon dresses and, trimmed with lynx or black fox, is most becoming. A velvet hat to match is worn. Black furs are fashionable for trimming cloth coats and for making the popular short jacket. These short coats are made of broadcloth, very soft ponyskin, astrachan and caracul; black fox and astrachan make the high collars on cloth or velvet coats.

An attractive afternoon dress of black woolen material, very soft and clinging, was completed by a black and white ermine scarf, with cuffs and muff to match, black and white beads, a black and white hat, and black and white gloves. An outfit for skating has a white angel cloth coat frock worn with a white hat of hatter's plush, a black fox fur, and a black coat to go over the dress when the wearer is not skating.

Grebe feathers are used in millinery and form a soft trimming for small hats. Marabout and a new feather, said to be taken from a bird called the lophophore, are also used. This new feather is bronze in color. Fur toques are trimmed with flowers, and velvet hats in bright and pale colors as well as brown and black have interlaced ribbon trimmings.

A hat of pale grey velvet, seen at Longchamp, was faced with pale rose, and another of brown velvet, worn with a brown ensemble, was brightened by a gold flower. The beret is worn with a gold clip or a little feather as ornament. The pancake beret covering one ear is worn only by the very young.

I.O.D.E. Activities

Harvey-Boggs Chapter
A meeting of the Valentine Harvey-Boggs Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. T. R. Myers, Windsor Road, when Miss A. B. Cooke addressed the members on the "War Memorial Scholarships" and educational matters pertaining to the order. Plans were made for a bridge party in January. Calendars and a picture will be sent to the Willows School. The sum of $5 was voted towards Christmas Hampers. Mrs. Ireland, a former member of the chapter, was welcomed back after an absence of two years. A standing vote of sympathy was passed to Mrs. J. H. Gillespie on the death of her mother. The action of Municipal Chapter, regarding headquarters, was approved. Following the meeting, tea was served, the tables, centred with a pretty bowl of pink chrysanthemums, being presided over by Mrs. G. F. Clarke.

St. John's Is Scene of Ceremony

St. John's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening when Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick united in marriage Eva Hilda, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Griffin, "Hillcrest," Glenford Avenue, and Mr. Fred Marconi, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Marconi, Old West Saanich Road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in an ankle-length gown of eggshell rose-point lace with large collar edged with net frilling. The skirt was held at the waistline with satin ribbon caught with a diamante buckle. Her French model hat of eggshell mohair had a shadow flowered crown in two-tone pink shading and she carried a shower bouquet of pale pink bridal roses, carnations and fern, tied with lovers' knots.

Attending as bridesmaids were the Misses Elsie and Flo Griffin, sisters of the bride, gracefully gownned in shell pink crepe-back satin fashioned on long lines, with diamante ornaments. Their flower-trimmed hats were of mahair, and they carried bouquets of pink and white carnations and fern.

Mr. Clifford Kirkham supported the groom. Following the ceremony a largely-attended reception was held at "Hillcrest," the home of the bride's parents, where the bride and groom stood beneath a floral bell suspended from an arched and welcome their many friends. Assisting in receiving was the bride's mother, dressed in a Van Dyke brown lace dress with felt hat to match, and Mrs. Marconi, mother of the groom, in black georgette with cream lace yoke and a black hat.

TO LIVE HERE
The table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake and was arranged with pink and white carnations and tall pink tapers in silver sconces. Mr. and Mrs. Marconi left at midnight for Vancouver, and from there will motor to California, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride traveling in a smart frock of royal blue French faille with eggshell crepe de Chine front and ties, with a midnight blue Ohonga cloth coat trimmed with black wolf collar and cuffs and a blue hat to match. On their return they will make their home on North Quadra Street.

UNITED CHURCH W.A. HOLDS SALE OF WORK

DUNCAN, Nov. 18.—Owing to the inclement weather, attendance was small at the sale of work held by the Women's Association in the United Church Hall on Tuesday afternoon. The financial returns were satisfactory. The hall and tea table decorations were Japanese lanterns and ferns. Tea was served by Mrs. O. Colborne, Mrs. C. E. Mains and Mrs. T. C. Robson. Tea receipts were in charge of Mrs. Robert Mann. During the tea hour, piano selections were played by Mrs. Colborne, Miss Muriel Evans and Miss K. McIver; vocal solos by Miss N. McIver, accompanied by Miss H. Mains, and Miss G. Owens, accompanied by Miss M. Naylor.

The Frisella Circle had an attractive display of novelties and fancy articles, none exceeding one dollar in price. Lenore Jennings was the winner of the fancy doll at this stall. Mrs. A. R. Mann and Mrs. J. Serjup were in charge, the circle leader, Mrs. C. R. Downman, and other members assisting. The Get-Together Circle had a miscellaneous stall, with home-made candy a specialty, with Mrs. James Highland, Mrs. A. Peterson and Miss May Buckmaster in charge. Mr. C. Buckmaster has kindly donated two racks of dry wood to this circle, proceeds from the sale to be added to its funds.

Mrs. P. Flett, Mrs. H. Clark and Mrs. G. Boyer were saleswomen at the Martha Circle stall, where plain sewing and home cooking were offered. Announcement was made of the annual meeting of the W.A. on Friday, December 11, when officers will be elected for 1932.

Y.M.C.A. Annual Guest Tea Is Great Success

More Than $460 Collected at Delightful Function Organized by Ladies' Auxiliary—Charming Scene With Hundreds of Guests

The old adage, "the greater the need the greater the deed," was well illustrated yesterday by the generosity of the ladies of the Y.M.C.A. under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary. This amounted to slightly more than $460, which, announced C. P. Hill in reading the results, was even better than last year's total.

Held in the gymnasium, which was completely transformed with its gay flags and pennants, and beflowered and candle-light tables, the affair was a splendid success in every way, with between three and four hundred guests, including His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson. The entire floor space was taken up with the long guest tables, each convyed by ladies representing some service club of the city in sympathy with the splendid social welfare work which the Y.M.C.A. is doing; and the gallery, also, was rimmed with guests.

WELCOMES GOVERNOR
Mrs. James Fletcher, president of the auxiliary, presided, and with other officers of the society received His Honor and Mrs. Fordham Johnson and the party from Government House. After they were seated she opened the formal part of the programme by extending greetings on behalf of the Y.M.C.A. and the auxiliary, expressing the hope that their term at Government House would be happy in every way. She also asked Mrs. W. Hobart Molson, niece of the former Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, to convey the greetings of the gathering to her uncle. In conclusion she voiced her thanks and appreciation to the several organizations which had assisted the undertaking by taking tables.

Mayor Herbert Anscomb paid his customary cordial tribute to the Y.M.C.A. World-wide in its scope, it was doing a splendid work in educating young men coming into the age of manhood. Today, like many other organizations engaged in welfare work, the Y.M.C.A. was realizing that in its time of greatest need, with more unemployed young men to provide with shelter, its funds were not receiving such generous support as hitherto. Expenses went up as the membership went down. Mayor Anscomb seized the opportunity to acknowledge, at this point, the great assistance which he, as Mayor, had received from the Y.M.C.A. in the solution of unemployment problems. He had never failed to provide accommodation for any young men whom the city had sent there.

STANDING IN COMMUNITY
From the young man's standpoint the Y.M.C.A. and the Ladies' Auxiliary and the various churches and other organizations which were supporting the work were regarded as great friends. The gathering was reminded also of the fact that the young men's parliament had its inception within the walls of the Y.M.C.A., and wholeheartedly should be grateful to the institution for what it had done in taking care of boys, while their fathers were overseas during the war or engaged in reconstruction work subsequently. The fact that the North Saanich Service Club, represented at the gathering by Dr. Newton of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Sidney, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, had joined forces with the Y.M.C.A. was evidence of its solid standing in the community.

On behalf of the Y.M.C.A. directors, H. B. Witter thanked the Ladies' Auxiliary for their splendid work in connection with the Ladies' Auxiliary, including the present tea. The proceedings closed with the announcement by Mr. Hill of the $460 receipts, and Mrs. Fletcher's thanks to the guests and artists.

THE PROGRAMME
Those taking part on the delightful little programme were Mrs. H. J. Coleman, of Vancouver, whose charming mezzo-soprano was always to good advantage in "Still as the Night" (Bohn), and "Quiet Down Here" (Braz), Mrs. H. C. Fraser accompanying at the piano. Mrs. Jameson (Edna Jacques), who recited two poems of her own composition, both singularly appropriate to the ideals advocated by the Y.M.C.A., "Life" and "The Prodigal," and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, who sang with grace and expression Benedict's "The Wren," and "One Morning Very Early" (Sanderson). Mrs. C. C. Warn being the accompanist.

Much applause heralded the announcement that Miss Agnew had already undertaken to throw open her home on Rockland Avenue for the annual Y.M.C.A. linen shower on St. Patrick's Day.

Messages of regret at their inability to be present were read by the president from the Attorney-General and Mrs. Pooley, Chief Justice and Mrs. J. A. Macdonald, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Plaskett, Mrs. W. J. Pendray and Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Fowler.

THE TABLES
The head table, convyed by Mrs. W. Hobart Molson and Miss Agnew, was artistically arranged with red and white carnations in silver baskets and tall red tapers in silver candelabra. Mrs. F. F. Toole, Mrs. G. A. Bucklin, Mrs. W. H. Molson and Miss Sara Spencer presided at the tea urns, and other guests at the table included His Honor and Mrs. Fordham Johnson, who was presented with a corsage bouquet from the auxiliary. Mrs. Molson, Miss Agnew, Mr. A. D. Fairbairn, Mayor Herbert Anscomb, Mrs. Angus Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Hill, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. J. W. Spencer, Mrs. D. E. Campbell, Mrs. H. T. J. THE EXCEPTION

"Talking of starting with nothing and making a fortune," said the talkative passenger, "see that old chap reading the paper? Well, he came to this town thirty years ago with ninepence in his pocket; he bought a tin of Ovaltine and a wooden box and started as a boot-black after getting a set of brushes on the way. What do you think he's worth today?"

Oh, about $10,000," suggested a bored listener.

"Well, you're wrong; he's not worth a bean, and he still owes for the brushes."

CAR PLUNGES DOWN CANYON

Mrs. W. D. Todd and Mrs. Gladys Turvey Narrowly Escape Death

A tree stump at the foot of a sheer drop of seventy-five feet at Arbutus Canyon on the Malahat Highway saved Mrs. W. D. Todd, of 2859 Roseberry Avenue, and Mrs. Gladys Turvey, of Chilliwack, from probably instant death when the automobile in which they were riding plunged over the embankment last Monday. Details of the accident were not made known until yesterday, when the wrecked car was towed into the city.

NO SERIOUS INJURIES

Both women escaped with minor cuts and bruises and shock. No serious injuries were sustained.

Mrs. Todd, who is assembly warden for the Rebekah lodge, was proceeding with Mrs. Turvey, Chilliwack president of the same organization, to Nanaimo when the accident occurred. They were to attend a lodge ceremony in that city.

Snow had fallen on the mountain over the week-end, and as the machine was proceeding over Arbutus Canyon bridge, it skidded. To save the car from crashing into the railing, Mrs. Todd swung the car around, but it again skidded and just missed the railing at the end of the bridge, plunging over the embankment to drop seventy-five feet below onto a tree stump. As the car careened down the precipice, it was torn to pieces. It landed upside down on the stump.

CLIMBED PRECIPICE

When the two occupants recovered from the shock, they managed to extricate themselves from the wreckage and climbed to the highway, where they were taken to the nearest garage by a passing Chinese motorist.

Had the stump failed to impede the progress of the machine, it would have dropped hundreds of feet below into the Saanich Arm, it was said.

Mrs. Todd said the machine narrowly missed plunging the rest of the distance into the waters of Saanich Arm. Had the car been six inches further in its projection over the stump, the weight of the machine would have tilted it off.

Mrs. Turvey was the first to extricate herself. Mrs. Todd was pinned between the wheel of the machine and the stump, and it was with some difficulty that Mrs. Turvey was able to release her companion.

FULLY RECOVERED

"It certainly was a miraculous escape. I don't know how we got out of it alive," Mrs. Todd told The Colonist yesterday. "Weckers who went out to salvage the machine said they could not understand how we ever escaped without at least serious injuries. However, I feel much better today, and am resting comfortably after recovering from the shock," Mrs. Todd concluded.

School Teachers—And now that we have finished discussing the lion and the tiger, who can tell me something about the lynx?

A painful pause. Finally a small hand is hesitatingly elevated.

Teacher—Well, Johnny, can you describe the lynx?

Johnny—No, sir.

Teacher—Then why did you raise your hand?

Johnny—I thought Reggie Rowbottom could tell.

Teacher—What made you think Reggie could describe the lynx?

Johnny—"Cause his brother's a caddy, sir."

Contentment

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Contentment is a frame of mind

That we, alas, too seldom find.

—Farmer Brown's Boy.

There was contentment on the rock slide far up on the side of the high mountain, and contentment as Farmer Brown's Boy has said, sometimes that we too seldom find.

But Little Chief and Mrs. Little Chief, those gentle little people who are called Pikas and Conies and sometimes Rock Rabbits, possessed it. Yes, sir, they did so. And being content they were happy, for happiness always goes with contentment.

To begin with, they had a wonderful crop of hay, the finest kind of hay from their point of view, for not only was it perfectly sun-dried, which insured its sweetness and goodness for all the long winter, but it was made up of those grasses and plants which they like best. It was not of just grasses alone. There were the tender stems of other plants, goldenrod, lupine, fireweed, nettles and some berry bushes.

"One needs variety," said Mrs. Little Chief. "No matter how good a food is, one does get tired of it if there is no change. Now these words are delicious and make up the greater part of our hay, but they will taste all the better for having these other plants mixed in with them. Really, my dear, it is the finest hay we ever have put up, and there is plenty of it, even if the winter should be extra long."

Trade, my dear, and now that we have it all stored away we haven't a thing to worry about," replied Little Chief. "I don't envy anyone in all the Great World."

"Nor do I," said Mrs. Little Chief. "We have everything that anyone can desire, a safe, comfortable home in the finest place in all the Great World; plenty to eat, our work for the season done and time to sleep, play and do whatever we want. What more could anybody ask?"

"Nothing," replied Little Chief. "I don't know why Old Mother Nature should have favored us so. For instance, just see how she covered the soles of our feet with fur. That makes us sure-footed on slippery rocks, where most people would slip, and also enables us to run about without making a sound, to say nothing of keeping our feet warm in cold weather. No, I don't see how anyone could ask for more than we have."

Now, as you know, these little people were living on or in a rock slide, a great jumble of rocks and stones high up on the side of a mountain where no trees grew and where the cold winds swept across from snow-covered peaks. To most folks it would have been the most dreary and inhospitable place in all the Great World. Yet the Little Chief thought it perfect, and because they thought so and were content with contentment it was. You see they had learned how to live there and to make the most of all that they had.

As I have told you before, they looked much like baby rabbits with round instead of long ears, but could you have seen them working as Farmer Brown's Boy did you could have known at once that they couldn't be even distantly related to Peter Rabbit, for they were altogether too thrifty for such a thing to be. There is no thrift in Peter Rabbit or any of his family. Peter never has learned to make the most of his opportunities and never will. He eats what he wants today and trusts to luck that he will be as fortunate tomorrow. So Peter has fat times and lean times; times as in summer, when he can stuff himself whenever he will with all sorts of good things, and times, as in winter, when he almost never knows what it is to have a full stomach.

In dry sheltered places down under the rocks Mr. and Mrs. Little Chief had stored their hay. Not for a single day would they go hungry and wonder where the next meal would come from. Never would they have to go out in bitter weather to look for it. The drifting snow would never get down into their under-rock home. Only Shadow the Weasel could follow them there, and Shadow never had visited that slide. Not even a Bear could dig them out, for they had wisely made their bedroom under a ledge of solid rock. So there was no fear in that home, and when they were outside they had full faith in their eyes and ears to warn them in time of the few enemies that might visit that rock slide.

So contentment filled their hearts. They had worked hard when work was to be done and now they could rest and play and take sun baths. Contentment was their reward.

English XI Defeats Wales by 3-1 Count Before 15,000 Fans

Two Goals in Second Half Give England Victory in International Encounter at Liverpool—Weather Conditions Far From Ideal

LIVERPOOL, England, Nov. 18 (CP).—England defeated Wales by three goals to one in an international soccer match today at Anfield Road. The sides were deadlocked at half-time, both having scored a goal.

Fifteen thousand saw the game, which was played in conditions far from ideal, a cold blustery wind with rain prevailing. England and Wales have met in international soccer matches on forty-nine occasions. England winning thirty-four of the games, Wales six, while nine have been drawn. England kicked off and arranged put in a strong drive which Gray took care of. Wales then took up the running and Hibbs had to flat out three times. It seemed England must score when Bastin centred to Waring a few yards from the Welsh goal, but Williams managed to deflect the ball for a corner. Wales went away again, but Gee disposed of O'Callaghan when he was shaping up for a kick on the English goal.

After thirty minutes of play Wales took the lead when Cook passed to Robbins, who had time to steady himself before shooting into the net from the edge of the penalty area. Within seven minutes, Smith, from Gee's free kick, threaded his way through the Welsh defence and beat Gray with a smart shot.

TAKES LEAD
Five minutes after resumption England took the lead when Hibbs sent Bastin away. The Arsenal man promptly placed the ball square in front of the goal for Crooks to convert as Gray dived at his feet. Wales were undismayed and kept pegging away in relentless fashion, and Hibbs had to throw himself full length once to prevent Astley from goaling. After sixty minutes of play Hibbs beat Gray with a shot which the goalkeeper touched but failed to hold. Crooks made an opening for Smith, but the Portsmouth man completely missed the target with his kick. England had the better of things until the end, though Wales had another chance to score, but Phillips shot wide.

The teams were:

Plans to Broaden Ryder Cup Matches Are Under Way

BOSTON, Nov. 18 (AP).—A move to broaden the Ryder Cup golf matches between England and the United States into a world-wide competition similar to the Davis Cup tennis play was made today during the closing session of the Professional Golfers' Association convention.

The proposal, made by George Sargent, former open champion from Columbus, Ohio, aroused such interest among the golfing delegates that they appointed a committee to study the subject. Sargent pointed out that economic conditions might interfere with the Ryder Cup matches two years hence and that the cause of golf professionalism everywhere would be stimulated if professionals from France, Germany, Japan, Argentina, Canada, Australia, as well as England and the United States, could be provided with a competition, lasting from four days to a week, that would produce an undisputed world's champion.

WALKER CUP SERIES MAY TERMINATE

Economic Conditions in England May Cause Cancellation of Games

BODY TO DISCUSS THE BALLOON BALL

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP).—Economic conditions in England may cause cancellation of the 1932 Walker Cup matches in this country, it was indicated today by reports from reliable sources.

Leaders of the game in England are said to doubt the wisdom of raising the large sum necessary to send their best amateur golfers to this side. They fear the reaction of the British public would not be favorable under the circumstances.

Possibly as a result of the uncertainty of the situation, the executive committee of the United States Golf Association is not expected to name the site and date of the 1932 matches at its meeting here tomorrow. The association has heard nothing from the British body in regard to the plans. If England decides to send a team, the date for the matches will be set when the executive committee meets next week in January. Only one matter of importance is scheduled to come before tomorrow's meeting—the approval of a ball designed to please the golfers. It is indicated the "balloon" ball is on its way out, to be replaced by a pellet of the same diameter, 1.68 inches, but of the weight of the "old" ball, 1.62 ounces.

The expected change will amount to a compromise on the part of the committee. The sphere still will offer a larger target to hit at than the one of other days but the added weight will take away some of the buoyancy of the "balloon" and make it ride more accurately in the wind.

VANCOUVER PRO OFF FOR JAPAN

Nat Cornfoot, Professional at Langara Golf Club, Leaves for Tokyo

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18.—One of its most colorful figures during the past five and a half years will be taken from Vancouver's golfing fraternity when Nat Cornfoot, pro at the Langara course, owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway in the exclusive Shaughnessy Heights district, sails for Japan on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia. The Scottish pro, who has been in charge of the Langara workshop since the public course opened more than five years ago, will join the Fuji Shokai Club in Tokyo as golf instructor. This organization operates a large indoor layout as well as outdoor courses.

Cornfoot has had a varied career on the links in Scotland, where he learned the game at historic St. Andrews, in England and Egypt. His own game hampered by war wounds, he nevertheless has an enviable reputation as a teacher, many contestants in British Columbia and Northwest tournaments in recent years owing their skill largely to his tutelage.

Youngsters Display Brilliant Form in One-Sided Victory

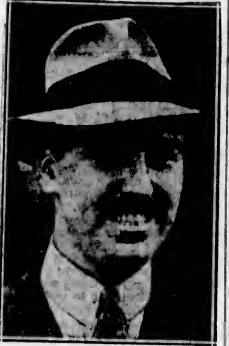

Lynn Patrick Shining Light as Teammates Down Powerful Opponents in Senior "A" Section—Keating and Standard in Wins

Uncorking some of the finest defensive basketball ever witnessed at the Victoria High School gymnasium, Coach Norm Forbes and his youthful Buyats climbed into a tie for first place in the race for the senior "A" division championship of the Victoria and District League last night, by scoring a 24-14 victory over the powerful Commercials in the feature attraction on the programme. In the opening game, Keating kept in the running for the senior "B" section honors by nailing out Normal School quintette, 27-21, while the Standard Steam Laundry fair sex chalked up a 20-11 win over the Blue Birds in a women's exhibition tilt in the second attraction.

Starting off as if to submerge their much lighter and younger opponents with an avalanche of field goals, the Commercials took the lead in the opening minutes of play. Their lead was short lived, however, as the Buyats came right back, fighting with all they possessed, and walked off the floor holding an 8-7 advantage at the interval. The feature work of the Buyats, who held sharpshooting Commercials to two fields, a feat to be proud of against such fine marksmen.

FURIOUS FACE
Opening the second canto at a furious pace, the Buyats soon took control of the situation and marched on to victory. Coach Forbes slipped his machine into high gear with the period still young and they never stopped until the final whistle. Lynn Patrick thrilled the packed house with his deadly shooting throughout the session. Time and again, the fast moving forward eluded his check to go in under the hoop for some beautiful field goals, the majority of which brought joy to the Buyats' camp. Just before the game ended, Patrick was forced from play on four

Veteran Leader Wins Out After Two-Day Deadlock—Salaries Reduced

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (AP).—Thomas J. Hickey today was re-elected president of the American Association of Professional Baseball Clubs for a one-year term. The reelection was announced as unanimous.

The veteran leader of the class "AA" league won out after a two-day deadlock, which found the vote, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Louisville and Columbus opposed his reelection, while the others, Toledo, Kansas City, Indianapolis and Milwaukee, voted for him. After failing to break the deadlock, he was given a year's term by a unanimous vote.

The association leaders named the tangled finances of the Toledo club with a view toward rehabilitation.

The sharp downward revision of salaries was voted by the club owners to go into effect on new contracts next season.

According to the agreement, it was understood all salaries would be reduced to a maximum of $600 a month.

Bromfield made this statement on his last visit to Hollywood before the publication of "24 Hours."

DRAMA NOW SHOWING

In a picture such as Tiffany's "The Drums of Jeopardy," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, in which Warner Oland, June Collier and Lloyd Hughes are featured in a gripping mystery drama, the sound engineer becomes more important than usual.

When off-stage screams, whispered words, cautious footsteps, creaking boards, yes, even turning locks and other similar sounds have to be recorded with meticulous exactitude, the work of the sound crew is doubled.

HARRY JOHNS TAKES MAIN ROLE IN OPERA

Dr. Harry Johns, as the sheriff in "Robin Hood," playing at the Royal Theatre soon, is a host in himself, and will be truly outstanding, carrying as he does, the main role of the opera.

Clifford Prescott's singing of "Brown October Ale" is all that can be desired.

A splendid pageant will be staged during the singing of "O Promise Me." The costumes and scenery during this episode are very beautiful. Especial care has been given to the coloring and lighting, and all those who will be privileged to see this opera will come away wanting more. Every attention has been given to make it truly twelfth century, and the costumes and scenery have been designed with this purpose in mind.

WESTERN THRILLER STARS BUCK JONES

Punches and thrills! Everybody expects them in a Buck Jones Western—and they always get it. "Branded," Columbia's late starring vehicle for Buck Jones, which opens at the Columbia Theatre today, does not fall short in these respects—in fact, it comes through with flying colors. But, in addition, there is an innovation. Here is a "shootin' and ridin'" feature with enough hilarious comedy to warrant a robust comedy laugh every minute. Fast as you get your breath after seeing Buck swing across a canyon suspended to his stirrup by one foot, you lose it again at some ludicrous comedy antic that is as diverting as it is unexpected.

CHANGE OF COSTUMES MADE ON THE STAGE

L. V. Granville, distinguished English actor, is scheduled to appear at the City Temple Auditorium on Monday evening, November 23, in a program of dramatic recitals, entitled "Dramatic Interludes."

Mr. Granville is an actor of wide reputation. His career on the stage includes the playing of leading roles with Sir Herbert Tree, Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, Sir Charles Wyndham, Lewis Waller, etc. For the past two or three years he has been touring the world with his "Dramatic Interludes."

An interesting feature of Mr. Granville's entertainment is that all changes of costume and "make-up" are made on the stage in full view of his audience, and while he is also making a running commentary upon the character which he is about to portray. Elaborate and special lighting effects add to the force of the portrayals.

NEW SELECTION TO BE PLAYED BY SYMPHONY

For the first time in Victoria the composition "Carnival of Animals," by Saint-Saens, will, by special request, be played as the opening number on the afternoon programme of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra tomorrow in the Royal Victoria Theatre, and in addition to being new to Victorians, it enjoys the unique distinction of having two grand pianos added to the orchestral instruments to interpret the score.

This composition, the "Carnival of Animals," was written in 1886.

The tourist was being shown the famous old caves.

"Yes, sir," said the guide, with an air of mystery, "I could tell you stories about these old caves that would make the very hair on your head."

The tourist laughed.

"I don't believe it," he said.

The guide looked a trifle crestfallen.

"Then perhaps you are very brave," he suggested.

"Not at all," replied the tourist.

"But I'm very bold."

Some Seasonable Recipes for the Housewife Include Christmas Cake and Pudding, Nut Bread and Coconut Kisses

With the approach of the Christmas season it is time to think about mixing the Christmas cake, and a good recipe is herewith given: This makes a very large cake, and by halving the quantities given, you will still have a good-sized cake.

Four cups of sugar, four cups of butter, twelve eggs, five and one-half cups of flour, eight cups of raisins, eight cups of currants, half a pound of almonds, one pound of figs, one pound of mixed peel, one teaspoon of cloves, mace, or any other spices, one teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of soda dissolved in half a cup of milk, one cup of wine or brandy. Bake in a slow oven for four hours. (Mix the fruit with half a cup of the flour).

Christmas Pudding (Irish)

One pound of breadcrumbs, one pound of chopped suet, one pound of currants, one pound of raisins, one pound of brown sugar, one-quarter pound of mixed peel, eight eggs and about one-half cup of sweet milk or a little more if too stiff; two large tablespoons of orange marmalade, one nutmeg (grated), one wineglass of brandy.

Nut Bread

Two and a quarter cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, half a cup of sugar, one teaspoon of salt, one cup of milk, half a cup of raisins, half a cup of chopped walnuts, one egg, a little vanilla. Put all the dry ingredients together, then the liquids. Put in a loaf pan and let rise for twenty minutes, then bake for about an hour.

Coconut Macaroons

Whites of two eggs beaten stiffly. Add one cup of sugar by teaspoons, beating all the time. Then add a few drops of vanilla and a pinch of salt and two cups of coconut. Drop on wax paper on a pan and bake in a slow oven until a very light brown.

YOUNG WOMAN WINS HONOR

Miss Annie Cannon Given Coveted Medal by Academy of Sciences

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 18 (AP).—Development of a girlhood fascination for gazing at stars from the attic window of her Dover, Delaware, home, led Miss Annie Jump Cannon to one of the highest scientific honors here last night.

She was presented with the Henry Draper Medal by the National Academy of Sciences, the first woman to win this award for scientific achievement. The medal has been awarded to twenty men in the last forty-five years.

Miss Cannon is an astronomer at Harvard University. She went there as a young woman, and has accomplished one of the most monumental astronomical tasks of all time. She has catalogued more than 300,000 stars. The meaning of this may be understood by recalling that all the seeming myriads of visible stars number only about 5,000.

Her catalogue is used by astronomers all over the world.

Miss Cannon attributes her love of astronomy to her mother, who taught her to observe the night skies from the attic window. Her girlhood observations were done with

French Foreign Affairs Committee Wants Further Details From Premier Laval

PARIS, Nov. 18 (AP).—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the French Chamber, by a vote of sixteen to eleven, today directed its vice-president to call on Premier Laval and tell him that his explanation of his recent visit to Washington, London and Berlin were insufficient.

Deputy Henri Guernut demanded that the Government publish a "Yellow Book" on the Washington conference and other negotiations. Deputy Marius Moutet asked that the committee be informed on plans for the 1932 Disarmament Conference and the League's attempt to settle the Sino-Japanese conflict.

The Foreign Affairs Committee also decided to call upon Pierre Flaudin, Minister of Finance, to explain loans by the Bank of France, in conjunction with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, to the Bank of England.

Just Roamin' Around

By TWO ROVERS

There has been a tidy bit of rain lately; at least, Rover and I both thought so. You may have noticed it, too.

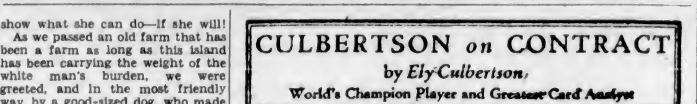

But, just a day or so ago, as the morning was more or less a dry one, we caught a street car right after breakfast, and that was a tidy bit after nine o'clock, let me tell you, and we sat in that street car till it came to Admiral's Road, when we alighted and strode off down the road that passes the old Naval Hospital and in and out like a rattler, through the timber and along the edge of Esquimaux's dandy harbor.

We like November! And though the trees have shed their Summer coats, there is a nip in the air and a glory of fine views that makes a walk along this bit of road most enjoyable. One can see glimpses of the water, and out-to-sea pictures that are obscured in the Summer time, when the leaves will get in our way.

We had been told by one of our pessimistic friends that what ailed rain for us city folks, here in town, ran into long sentences of hair and snow only a few miles out in the country, so to speak. Well! We did find a few isolated patches of Winter's white mantle, here and there, but that is what makes November so attractive, after all. It is, at least with us here in Victoria, a sort of betwixt and between month. Our Winter has not yet arrived with all its baggage, so it is merely sending a small valise of hail and snowflakes along to us to put on warmer woolens and wear thicker socks.

The rest of Canada may be snow-covered, frost-bound and blizzard-ridden, but here we are with the mildness of Winter's attempts to show what she can do—if she will! As we passed an old farm that has been a farm as long as this island has been carrying the weight of the white man's burden, we were greeted, and in the most friendly way, by a good-sized dog, who made friends at once and then ran round in ever-increasing spirals, kicking up the mud in some places and lifting clouds of wet snow in others. It was good fun and made us like this time of year all the more, for we will ever have a good word to say for November on Vancouver Island, where everything is lovely all the year round!

It is seldom, indeed, that two rovers find the weather too inclement for a ramble, and there is almost no end to the places to visit, except when the rain precludes roamin' around; and there has been a tidy bit of rain lately! You may have noticed it, too.

WINTERTIME. There's much to love in Wintertime! And though the days much shorter grow, And we get hints of frost and snow, And hedgerows trim their tops with rime, I see no blooming, adequate reason.

Why we should cuss or abuse this season!

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

PLANNING THE END PLAY
Where the decision is at all close, at least one-third of all contracts are won or lost in the last few tricks. The methods by which experts gain the tricks essential to the making of their contract sometimes appear to the uninitiated as sheer suicide, while in fact each play is accurately timed and fully considered. End play positions are extremely interesting and are reached when a chosen opponent is placed in the lead, so that on the twelfth trick he is compelled to lead away from a guarded honor otherwise uncatchable, to an honor combination in either the closed or dummy hand, or in both. To be able to make end plays one must carefully count the suit distribution as the play proceeds, otherwise you are quite likely to place the wrong adversary in the lead and thus eliminate the possibility of the play.

Take the hand below:
Neither side vulnerable.
South—Dealer.

South West North East
1 NT(1) Pass Pass Pass
3 NT(2) Pass Pass Pass
1. The jump to two no trump is based on the possession of nearly two and a half honor tricks.

2. South holds three honor tricks and the bid for game, while close, is justified.

East had a variety of undesirable leads. The opening of the club did not appear to have a future and the warning lead of the top of the worthless diamond suit did not appear desirable because the suit was a minor and hence quite likely the basis of much of North and South's game contract at no trump. Taking into consideration all these things, East decided to open his fourth best spade and when the dummy went down North counted his certain and profitable tricks.

He was sure of two spade and two heart tricks. The club suit was evenly distributed in all the hands and the club finesse won, then he could make nine tricks with only a single trick in the diamond suit. If the club finesse failed—that is, if West held the club king and the suit broke evenly—then he must secure the game-winning trick if at all, by scoring at least two tricks in the diamond suit. His honor holding in the diamond suit justified the hope of two tricks, but the danger was that either East's spades or the heart suit would be established before all these tricks could materialize. North could not establish two tricks in diamonds without conceding one trick in that suit to his opponents. There was, however, the end play which might develop the needed trick through forcing his opponent to play the hand for him. After winning the first lead of spades with the king, North led a small heart from the dummy, planning to drive out the ace, wherever it was, hoping that if it was held by East it would be the only entry for his spade suit, if that proved to be five cards in length. East won the first round of hearts. He made the mistake of now leading the spade deuce, disclosing to the declarer that he held five cards in that suit originally. North did not permit West to win this trick, as to do so might cost game. He had decided to play West for length in hearts and the diamond king. The club finesse was taken and lost. Realizing that the diamond lead would be worse than futile, West now led a heart. The play afforded South the key to the correct end play. The heart was won in the dummy and the three good clubs cashed. East and West both discarded small diamonds on the last club. Now West was put in with dummy's last heart to make two established tricks in that suit, upon which North discarded his losing spades and dummy discarded a small diamond. After West had taken his hearts, he was compelled to lead the knave of diamonds which was won in the dummy with the queen. The game-making trick went to declarer's ace.

TODAY'S POINTER
Question—If there should be a choice between penalizing opponents and premium at own bid, which should be chosen?

Answer—A skillful player should choose the penalties, but an average (or worse) player would be wise to be content with making his own game and its premiums until his play improves, as it will when he learns to draw the correct bidding inferences.

How to make your teeth brilliant white—beautiful

Will you risk 25¢ to try a new, different dentifrice that beautifies teeth amazingly?

Listerine Tooth Paste is its name, made by the makers of Listerine. That guarantees its quality. A bit of it on your brush, a little gentle brushing—and immediately you begin to see your teeth improve. Others notice it, too.

Those tiny stains and discolorations vanish so quickly. Dull teeth grow white. And teeth already attractive take on a wonderful brilliance and luster—the way nature intended them to look.

These results are due to natural cleansing agents—so gentle in action—which first clean, then polish teeth. They are softer than enamel so cannot harm it. But they are harder than tartar and therefore quickly remove it.

CHINESE SENTENCED ON NARCOTIC CHARGE

NANAIMO, Nov. 18.—In police court before Judge Barker, Wong Sing, better known as Mah Kim, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment, together with a fine of $200, or, in default, three months in jail, on a charge of selling opium and of having opium in his possession. Deportation will take place after the jail sentence, it is understood. Lionel Beaver-Potts defended accused, while Victor B. Harrison represented the Attorney-General's Department, and Frank S. Cunliffe the Minister of Justice. The case arose out of an impromptu visit to Wong Sing's residence in Chinatown after he had sold opium valued at $2 to one Sam Bui, who paid for the narcotics with marked bills given to him by the protective squad.

OUTLOOK FOR WHEAT TRADE IS IMPROVED

Increased Sale of Canadian Grain Predicted by Statistics Bureau

REDUCTION OF SURPLUS STORES ANTICIPATED

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP).—A rosy picture for the Canadian wheat exporter, with Canada and the United States predicted to enjoy increased sale of their grain, is shown in a monthly review issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

From now on Russia, at best, it is considered, will be an in-and-out exporter, it being regarded as certain that the bulk of the grain movement from the Soviet is over for this year. Early movement of Russian wheat in volume, while disquieting at the time, has turned out to be a buoyant factor, and the supplies of Canada, United States, the Argentine and Australia will be heavily drawn upon during the balance of the 1931-32 cereal year.

IN FAVORABLE POSITION
Canada is in a particularly favorable position, holding, as she does, only moderate supplies of surplus high grade wheat, and the immediate future is bright. World import requirements for the present cereal year will amount to at least $25,000,000 bushels, compared with actual shipments of 785,000,000 bushels during 1930-31. The bureau's review says:

WILL REDUCE SURPLUS
"To fulfill import requirements on this basis, it is apparent from preliminary production estimates in exporting countries the entire surplus from the 1931 wheat crop in the United States, Canada and the Argentine will be insufficient to meet import requirements and that before July 31, 1932, accumulated stocks will have to be drawn upon."

MUSICAL ARTS CONCERT HELD
Mrs. Arthur Dowell and Miss Dorothy Morton entertained an audience at Shrine Hall.

An audience of more than two hundred showed great appreciation of the singing of Mrs. Arthur Dowell and Miss Dorothy Morton in the program which they gave under the auspices of the Victoria Musical Arts Society yesterday afternoon at the Shrine Hall. As originally planned, Thomas Kelway, tenor, was also to have taken part, but at the eleventh hour he was unable to do so on account of illness. Mrs. J. O. Cameron, the president, expressed his regrets.

Mrs. Dowell and Miss Morton gave a most enjoyable and successful concert, there was a spontaneous outburst of work of each which appealed tremendously to the audience. In exceptionally fine voices, Mrs. Dowell, who ranks among the province's foremost singers, sang the charming Mozart "Allieluia," "Fair Maiden," "Dawn, Gentle Flower," and Perle's "Chanson Provencale," which displayed the coloratura qualities of a voice whose brilliance and range are familiar to every audience in the city. She had an accomplished and sympathetic accompanist in Mrs. Paul Green.

Mrs. Dorothy Morton always invests her playing with a touch of her own happy personality, and gave a particularly pleasing rendering of Mozart's "Pavane Variations," which she followed with the impressively dramatic Schubert-Liszt "Erl King." Both showed very fine pianism of a kind which combines a thoughtful intelligence with broad technique and skilled execution.

Mrs. J. O. Cameron announced that the juvenile branch would meet next Saturday, but that owing to the indefinite postponement of Mrs. Hebdon Gillespie's lecture the proceedings should not be open to the members of the adult society. The Levenne recital date has been changed from Wednesday, December 2, to Saturday, December 5.

PRESSURE LIFTING ON THE PRAIRIES
Saskatchewan Feeling Worst Pinch of King Frost's icy Winter Fingers

WINNIPEG, Nov. 18 (CP).—Early winter's straightest punch was aimed at Saskatchewan today, falling temperatures down in the north district, while lifting of cold pressure from Alberta forecast a general easing of the prairies of the season's first cold spell.

Temperatures still ranged below zero in Alberta cities, but Saskatchewan, while lifting of cold pressure from Alberta forecast a general easing of the prairies of the season's first cold spell.

The Arctic spotlight with a minimum of 15 degrees below. It was 12 below at Jasper, Alta., and 10 below at Medicine Hat, Alta.

Snowfall was scattered and light, reports indicate, and none is forecast for tomorrow. Somewhat higher temperatures are expected in Alberta and Saskatchewan, but on another day of near-zero weather is held out for Manitoba.

SAYS SELLION LIES IN TRADE

Liberal Leader Levels Sharp Attack on Bennett Government

HALIFAX, Nov. 18 (CP).—"The real solution to the problem of unemployment is trade," said Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King today, "trade to associate our land with other lands. Until this country's policies are so fashioned as to make this possible again, Canada can never attain her rightful portion of prosperity."

Leveling a sharp attack at the Bennett Government's financial practice, Cabinet structure, trade and tariff policies, and methods of dealing with unemployment relief, the Federal Opposition leader issued a call for more effective Liberal organization.

EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN
Addressing the Nova Scotia Liberal Association in conference here, he asked that a campaign of education on political subjects be carried on, apart from the periodic debates on general elections, "to bring home the truth to every man, woman and child in Canada."

"I am not advancing an attempt to take up the challenge of the country now," the Liberal leader said. "I do not believe the people want a general election with its unsettling effects."

ADVOCATES COMMISSION
Mr. King advocated the appointment of a commission to deal with unemployment, the appointment of a Minister of Finance apart from the Prime Minister, and of a Minister of Labor from the floor of the House of Commons, and declared that the Liberal Government would bring changes—more drastic ones—than any other government in Canada's previous fiscal history.

NATIONALIZATION OF LAND PLANNED
Manitoba Farmers Discuss Voluntary Return of Property to State and "Use-Leases"

BRANDON, Nov. 18.—Nationalization of land tonight stood dearest to the hearts of the farmers of Manitoba as a means of winning security of tenure for the agrarian in Canada. The Manitoba farm body, now in annual convention, is later to vote for or against the principle of substituting "use-leases" for existing land titles.

Under the resolution before the meeting, explained in detail by J. Macaulay, president of Saskatchewan's United Farmers' body, the nationalization would be fully voluntary. "Use-leases" would be substituted first for provincial lands and for lands now mortgaged, but for which an adjustment basis must be found. All lands now privately owned would be nationalized only at the option of the owner.

Mr. Macaulay, whose 30,000-member farm body early this year decided to enter politics, explained that nationalization of land was the darkest day in the ladder to a new system. Other steps were nationalization of currency and credit, as well as of transportation, formation of a prior stabilization body and crop insurance.

HEARING DAIRY PRODUCE CASE

Counsel Argue on Question of Making Levies and Adjustments

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18.—Hearing of the appeal of the lower Mainland Dairy Products Sales Adjustment Committee against a decision of Mr. Justice Murphy, in Supreme Court, declaring ultra vires the Dairy Products Sales Adjustment Act as revised in 1931, will continue tomorrow in the Court of Appeal.

The hearing occupies the attention of the court all day, and at adjournment the argument of J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., counsel for the Crystal Dairy, Ltd., respondent, was still incomplete. R. L. Maitland, K.C., counsel for the committee, concluded his argument early this afternoon.

REFUSED MANDAMUS
In declaring the act ultra vires, Mr. Justice Murphy dismissed the claim of the committee for a mandamus forcing the dairy to return of all milk or manufactured products purchased or received by it.

The thing is, Mr. Farris said, in argument, "that the farmers are obliged by the act to make returns. If the power of the committee of adjustment to make levies is invalid, the whole act is destroyed, and also agrees that the levy is a tax. Where we disagree, however, is on the question whether it is an indirect tax."

Quoting the act, Mr. Farris said that the committee of adjustment was given power to impose levies to cover expenses, in addition to having the power of making "adjustments" between the price received by one producer for his fluid milk and the price received by another for his manufactured product.

Mr. Justice claimed that the so-called adjustment was just as much a tax as the levy, and that both were indirect, inasmuch as it was not necessary to show that the taxes were passed on from producers to consumer, but only to show that the machinery to pass it on was there.

The adjustment between the price received by one producer for his fluid milk and that received by another for his manufactured milk products was a tax on one hand and a bonus on the other, Mr. Farris went on. It was not as if the money came into a common pool and was then redistributed.

"It does not sound like a tax," commented Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald.

It does not sound like a tax, but it feels like one, answered Mr. Farris.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

The word ulcer is an unpleasant one, and the thought of an ulcer of the stomach is particularly unpleasant, and yet a great many people have ulcer of the stomach, and do not know it.

They find that they get a pain or an uneasy feeling an hour or two after eating, and remembering that the food they ate was rough, had husks or seeds in it, they decide to go on a milk or liquid diet for a few days and soon feel better.

As a matter of fact, this soft or liquid diet gave the ulcer a chance to heal, and they haven't even thought of the possibility of an ulcer.

Experiments show that where there is this regular pain at a definite time after eating, that rough foods—cabbage, cauliflower, celery and raw fruits—will prevent the healing of an ulcer, whereas the soft diet permits the ulcer to heal.

Dr. G. B. Fenley and A. C. Ivy, studying the effects of diet on the healing of an ulcer, tell us that in a series of twenty-nine ulcers, twelve kept on a rough diet and seven on a soft diet, all using the rough diet remained unhealed at the end of thirty days, whereas fourteen of those using the soft diet were healed.

Another point was that where the diet was kept in a more liquid form, not too dry, the healing was quicker.

The soft diet used in these cases was milk, bread, and mashed boiled carrots.

As you know, the regular medical treatment of ulcer is a number of small meals during the day, followed by an alkali of some kind, as it is the hydrochloric acid in the stomach digestive juice that causes pain in the ulcer.

This method requires constant treatment by a nurse or a member of the family, but it usually brings results.

However, in small ulcers, in ulcers just getting started, the use of liquids and the soft diet will bring about healing and allow the patient to be up and about his occupation.

It is rather good sense, then, when you have a "regular" pain in the stomach for a few weeks until the stomach feels "easy" again.
